How to press navy dress white uniform

When the dress uniforms are pressed, make sure the uniforms are INSIDE OUT so that the creases are inverted when you put it on. Below is a graphic representation and instructions of how the enlisted uniform is folded and ironed. Although the uniform depicted is the dress whites, the dress blues are folded and ironed exactly the same way.Remember: The jumper and trousers (whites and blues only) are NEVER creased from the outside. ALWAYS turn the jumper and trousers wrong side out as shown below.When ironing dress whites use a damp piece of sheet between the hot iron and the fabric as the synthetic fabric will melt or discolor if the iron is too hot. The damp cloth also helps set a sharp crease.When ironing is completed and you turn the uniform right-side out and you should see that all creases EXCEPT the front middle crease and the three creases on the collar flap are turned inward, not out outward.NOTE: Male Dress Blues are done the same way. Females do not wear the dress blue jumper and trousers. Navy Working Uniform (NWU) can be washed and dried in a normal washing machine. Do not use starch or bleach as they degrade the stain resistant fabric.Dress Whites should be washed inside out in a normal washing machine. Bleach or oxygen based whitening products can be used to remove stains and restore bright white color.Dress Blues MUST be professionally dry-cleaned. Never wash your dress blues in a washing machine.Do not let the dry cleaners press your uniform. They will press it in incorrectly. The quality of a sailor is often measured by how much time, effort and care he/she spends on their boots.Here's how to apply that high-gloss spit shine:Spread a medium-thick layer of paste polish over the portion of the boot to be spit shined.Allow it to dry for 5 to 10 minutes.Wrap a soft, clean cloth around your index finger so that it is smooth (no wrinkles). Alternately, you can use a cotton ball. Dip your finger or the cotton ball into a container of water. The cloth/cotton should be wet, but not dripping.Buff the dried polish (using a circular motion) with the wet cloth/cotton ball, until the wax starts to become shiny.Still using the damp rag on your finger, apply a fine layer of polish in a circular motion and keep on rubbing lightly until a hazy shine develops.Using the (now) damp cloth, or cotton ball, keep applying THIN coats of wax, buffing them with a small circular motion.When the boot is highly glossed, use a clean dry soft cloth or a shining brush to give it a final buff.Tips:The reason to use a wet cloth is to stop the fine coats of polish sticking to the cloth and to encourage the polish to stick to the leather.You want to keep on building up thin layers of wax until you have a completely smooth surface that gives the glossy shine.After the first heavy coat of polish you must use small amounts of polish to build up the shine. If you use too much polish, it will dissolve the base you have already built up.T-shirts work well for the cloth material, as do cloth diapers.What You Need• Shoe Polish (for best results, use Kiwi Parade Gloss)• Cloth• Water The sleeves of the Navy Working Uniforms (NWUs) may be rolled up during times of warm weather.For the NWU, the sleeves will be rolled with the inside out, with the cuff folded over, forming a roll approx. 3 inches wide, and terminating at a point approx. 2 inches above the elbow.Lay the uniform on a flat surface, face up and sleeves extended out, with the button at the end of the sleeve unbuttoned.Flip the sleeves inside-out by folding the cuffs of the sleeve up towards the armpit area. Pull it up until it almost touches the inside seam of the armpit region.Roll the bottoms of the inside-out sleeves in three inch rolls upwards until you reach the cuffs.Fold the end of the cuff down over the rolled portion of the sleeve.Secure the button and flap. Repeat on opposite sleeve.An Official PDF version of the instructions can be found on Homeport. The Navy assigns different types of uniforms, depending on the season. During the months of April through October, sailors are required to wear Navy dress whites. In order to look impeccable, this uniform needs to be ironed properly. Once you grow accustomed to the ironing routine, pressing your Navy dress whites becomes an easy task to handle. Follow the cleaning directions of your uniform. If there are no care directions, wash the uniform inside out in cold water with detergent and bleach. Dry the uniform on a low heat setting to prevent shrinking. Lay trousers flat on the ironing board. Create a vertical crease on both trouser legs. The length of the crease starts from the belt loop and end at the cuff of the pants. There must be two vertical creases on each trouser leg, one in the front and one in back. Sprinkle some starch onto the crease once it has been ironed. The starch keeps the fabric creased and helps maintain crispness. Use a plastic hanger with clips and hang the trousers. Avoid metal hangers since they can rust and stain. Cover your trousers in plastic to protect from dust and dirt. Turn your uniform shirt right side out and lay it flat on the board, ironing the sleeves of the shirt. Unbutton each pocket on the front of the shirt and make a vertical crease, starting from the shoulder down to the bottom of the shirt. Create three creases centered on the back of the uniform shirt. The left and right creases located on the back of the shirt should match up with the creases located in the front. The center crease is created by folding the collar in half. Use the crease from the collar as a guideline for the center crease. Add some starch if necessary. Hang the uniform shirt on a wooden hanger and button all the buttons. Cover the shirt with plastic, as well. Place both trousers and shirt in a dry area away from the sun. Home - Diy How to Iron a U.S. Navy Summer White Uniform. The United States Navy has uniforms for the summer and winter periods. The wear of these is dependent on the weather cycles. The summer uniforms are normally prescribed for wear from April through October of each calendar year. The summer whites come in two types and are equally easy to maintain. Things You Will Need + US Navy Summer White Uniform Ironing board Water Hangers Iron Starch Ensure setting is on a hot setting to allow a crispier look. Wash the uniform inside out in cold water with bleach. Both the cotton and the cotton and twill (CNT) summer white uniforms can be washed in this manner. Ensure you dry the uniform using a permanent cycle with low heat. This will maintain the integrity of the fabric. Make a vertical crease on each trouser leg. The length of the crease should be from cuff to belt loop. Additionally, it should be a front and back side of trouser leg. For each set of trousers (cotton and CNT), the process is the same. Apply starch. Use a heavy starch to the trousers legs once a crease has been pressed in with the iron. The will increase the crispness of the creases in the trousers. Hang the summer white trousers via a plastic clip hanger. Hang the clipped trousers with the cuffs in the clips. Cover in plastic when completed. Iron the summer white shirt by placing it regular side out. Iron the sleeves normally while using the same setting as the trousers. When making creases in the front of the shirt, unbutton each pocket then make a crease vertically from shoulder to the bottom of the shirt. Place three creases centered on the rear of the shirt. The left and right creases will line up on the back of the shirt with creases that were made on the front of the shirt. The center crease is formed by folding the collar and the vertical crease will be made as this center point is being used. Place the shirt on a wooden hanger ensuring all buttons are buttoned up. Place a plastic covering over both trousers and shirt to keep the uniform free of dust and debris. The Drip Cap How to Iron a U.S. Navy Summer White Uniform. The wear of these is dependent on the weather cycles. Both the cotton and the cotton and twill (CNT) summer white uniforms can be washed in this manner. The length of the crease should be from cuff to belt loop. Place three creases centered on the rear of the shirt. Place the shirt on a wooden hanger ensuring all buttons are buttoned up. Something went wrong. Wait a moment and try again. Iron your Navy dress white uniform, inspection style, in less than 15 minutes. Each person has a rhythm they use in ironing their uniforms. Use the steps below until you find your own ironing rhythm. Follow your Navy dress white uniform washing and ironing instructions. Take the jumpers and trousers from the dryer as soon as they dry. Put them on hangers to prevent them from forming too many "summer creases," as in "some wrinkles here" and "some wrinkles there." Grab a magnifying glass and examine your dress white uniforms. Clip any pennants sticking out. Remove any lint balls you see. You want your dress white uniforms to look sharp and consistent. Go through your jumpers and iron the creases in. Use a combination of water spray and steamed iron. Spray the water on the dress white uniform creases, then iron the creases in. Place your dress white jumper around the ironing board, inside out, and repeat the cycle, spraying some water on the uniform and then applying your steam iron. Take your dress white pants and turn this uniform inside out. Insert the tapered end of the ironing board in your uniform's pelvis section. Start from one pocket, zipper area, and work your way around to the other pocket, zipper area. Spray first, iron next. Then iron your dress white uniform one pant leg at a time.
